

Assembly recommendation:

1. Find the appropriate positions on the swim platform for the snap davit mounts and on the inflatable boat for the pads by measuring and trying. If necessary, mark the positions.

2. Slightly roughen the adhesive surface of the pads with fine sandpaper. The adhesive surfaces of hypalon/rubber boats should also be lightly and carefully roughened. PVC boats do not (!) need to be roughened. Then both sides (pads and dinghy) must be thoroughly cleaned with the cleaner.

3. Combine the required amount of base (adhesive) with 10% hardener (activator) for one application and mix it well.

4. Spread the mixture evenly on both parts, leave to dry for 20 minutes and spread a mixture again.

5. It is recommended to deflate the inflatable before attaching the pads. After another 10 minutes, heat both sides (pads and dinghy) slightly with warm air or infrared light, join the parts together and press carefully, if necessary weigh them down slightly.

6. Dried and ready to use after 72 hours.

7. After the gluing process, the metal brackets still have to be inserted into the pads. If necessary, this can also be done before the entire gluing process. To do this, thread the metal safety wires over the ends of the metal bracket at one end, slide the brackets into the openings provided on the pads (if necessary, lubricate them lightly) and insert and close the safety pins at the ends that are then protruding from below.

8. The Snap Davit Brackets should be greased regularly through the small, round opening on the spring to ensure long service life.

Attention:

Due to the different fabric mixtures in inflatable boats, we cannot assume any liability for the strength and compatibility of the cleaner and adhesive. The user / end user is responsible for checking the compatibility and for the correct installation. Please take also note of the current processing instructions and instructions from the adhesive and cleaner manufacturer for the gluing process that are enclosed with the adhesive. These are binding.
